Customer Reviews

DISCLAIMER: We (MichianaShopper.com) do not work with nor am I associated with Scott.

However, we did receive a copy of his book for evaluation...BUT...I did actually buy the book at first and Scott called me and told me I was being given a copy to review. Why that is important is because as the Publisher of a newspaper, we are given plenty of books and materials for review purposes. I would have, and frankly still are more than willing to pay Scott much more than the asking price for his books and CD's. No hype...they are that valuable to my staff and me. With gas being at the price it is, it made no sense to have our outside salespeople go out and make cold calls and waste plenty of time trying to find qualified accounts much less the decision makers. Scott's approach to prospecting using the phone truly is one of the best and most "real world" usable approaches I have come across. I know you have seen "scripts" of what to say in books that when you read them they kind of sound good...yet when you try to use them in the field or on the phone, you get a prospect that winds up serving your head BACK to you on a silver platter. Not with Scott's approaches. When I read through much of the "fluff" out there, you quickly get a sense of who has really been in the streets. Scott's street experience and savvy quickly makes itself very evident. I can take a new person in my company, give them a script we created using Scott's examples, and have a new person making initial prospecting calls and getting vital info within the HOUR! No more of this spending all day long trying to learn a program that worked for the guy writing the book but not for me...(sound familiar?)
